STATE REFORM SCHOOL

Board Approves Plans for New Building and Adds Many Improvements to Institution.

Brakeman Daty Fined $60-Irrigation Sult- Weber River Water Appropriated.

A special meeting of the board of the state industrial school was held last evening with all members and Secy. Hollingsworth in attendance.

The plans for the girls' new building, which is to be erected with the $15,000 appropriation made by the last Legislature, were considered. Plans were submitted by F. C. Woods & Company and Architect Smith. They were submitted to Gov. Wells, who with an expert from Salt Lake and one from Ogden decided in favor of Mr. Smith's pians, which were accepted by the board. It was also decided to erect the new building just west of the cottage occupied by the girls at present, on Southwell avenue, facing the main building. The new building will be con-structed of brick, with sandstone trimmings, and plain stone basement. It will be 85 feet long by 46 feet 6 inches wide, of very pretty architecture, and conveniently arranged with basement and first and second stories.

The basement will contain a fine gymnasium in the west half 23 by 43 feet, with 12 foot ceiling: dining room, kitchen, store room and heating plant apartments.

en, store room and heating plant apartments.

On the first floor will be situated a large school room, sewing room, teachers' apartment, matron's quarters, reception room and office, also several bed rooms. The second floor will be divided into bed rooms. There will be in the building 10 double bed rooms and 18 single bed rooms. The ceilings are high and plenty of light will penetrate the building from the large windows. the building from the large windows. Work on the new building will be commenced in the near future; and when it is completed, the cottage used for the girls at present, will be arranged for a

The board has also installed at the school a fine new laundry fitted up with the most improved machinery, purpany of Chicago, costing $1,750.

A fine gymnasium room for the boys 36 feet wide by 60 feet in length, with a 20 foot ceiling has been fitted up at an expense of over $500. It is very complete in all its details.

A new blacksmith shop has been built. The building is 20 by 40 feet. It contains six new blowers and exhaust fan forges, with all the other necessary machinery to make a first class shop, in which the boys can learn the trade after the best

The manual training department has been wonderfully improved. Twelve new improved Larsen work benches, almany new saws, planes, hammers other carpenter tools, have been alled. Some of the machinery in this department is run by electricity.

A greenhouse 24 by 60 feet has also been built which will be set out with fine plants, shrubs, etc.

The board has also just placed an order with J. H. Spargo and Co., for over o volumes of various kinds and sets books for the library and many books have been donated to the school by friends. When the books ordered arrive, the school will have a fairly good library, so that the inmates will have plenty of different kinds of literature to read.

Lang as machinist and engineer.

The report from the school shows the institution to be in a good condition in every respect. The crops are flourishing and indications are that a good harvest of fruits, etc. will be garnered this year. The health of the inmates is very good. BRAKEMAN DALY FINED $60.

Last evening the cast against M. Daly, the southern Pacific brakeman, charged with breaking the seal on a fruit car, came up before Judge Howell. The testimony of the prosecution went to show that Daly while out on the Southern Pacific near Wells, Nev., received money from four men to let them ride in a freight car to Ogden, that he broke open the seal on the car and placed the men inside. On the way here the men broke open several boxes of fruit and were arrested in the car by the police and given 10 days. Daly was found guilty as charged and sentenced to pay a fine of $60, which he paid and was released from custody. PEACE DISTURBER FINED. Jack McCarby and Ed Carnahan were given a hearing before his honor on the charge of disturginh the peace.

They had entered into a fight on lower Twenty-fifth street yesterday morning, terribly battering each other, and would no doubt have done each other bodily harm had it not been for the prompt action of Officer Elam, McCarthy was sentenced to 30 days, and Carnahan

Pear Blight Under Control in Utah County - Wedding - Water Suit. Special Correspondence.

Provo, Utah Co., July 31,-As the pear blight has become so prevalent throughout the northern half of the state it is well to state some observàtions which Mr. B. H. Bower of the state board of horticulture has made during the past week in Utah county. A considerable portion of the fruit growing section was visited by him and the pear blight situation received special attention, as so many wild stories were afloat concerning its work. James Mel-drum's orchard of 2,000 or more pear trees, which had the blight last year, but which, on account of vigorous treatment harvested a fine crop of excellent fruit, was again at one time this season, to some, a discouraging proposition. Mr. Meldrum, however, went to work and cut out the affected parts and while some severe pruning had to be done and the entire top was had to be done and the entire top was cut out of 200 trees, yet on the 23rd inst, the young portion of his large or-chard presented a clean and healthy appearance and is a credit to the own-er. The blight will be cut from the old trees this week. The older trees show some blight in the top of the trees but in the main body where the fruit is set there appears very little of fruit is set there appears very little of the disease and where it is located it has stopped working and new wood is starting out, so unless something occurs now unlooked for, Mr. Meldrum will again save the greater part of his fine rop of Bartletts.

No orchards were found by Mr. Bow-er where the blight had gained control. and he congratulates the fruitgrowers of Utah county on their enterprise. Our county comissioners complied with the law and we have an inspector hard at work.

JONES-CURTIS WEDDING. A marriage license has been issued to Robert S. Curtis, 26, and Lillie E. Jones,

Utah county has commenced suit against Thomas Boardman to quiet tithe to a spring in Bullock's canyon, east of the infirmary. The county wants to use the waters of the spring for culinary and other purposes at the infirmary, and a few years ago, in a suit brought by Mr. Boardman for damages for destroying the spring, he obtained judgment against the county. The county now claims the waters of the spring, and so does Mr. Boardman,

Special Correspondence. Fairview, Sanpete Co., July 25 .- The celebration here of Pioneer day went off in good style. The people were seremaded with vocal and instrumental music, by an impromptu minstrel troupe. At 10 o'clock the people met at the meetinghouse, and filled that building almost to its full capacity. Mr John B. Graham was marshal of the day. A pleasant surprise was per-petrated upon the people when, during the exercises of the program, our warthy Photographer F. Christensen mounted the platform and made a nice and beloved Prophet Brigham, the Mo ses of latter-day Israel. Then turn-ing around he uncovered a large and beautiful picture of that great and good man, and presented it to our Bishop as a gift to the word, for the adorn-ment of the meetinghouse. The Bishop then feelingly expressed his apprecia-tion and thanks in behalf of the community. The oration by Mr. S. S. Sanderson was spirited and touching. Special Correspondence. Spring City, Sanpete Co., July 30 .- A most shocking accident occurred here a few days ago, and as a result the little five-year-old son of Charles Torkelson lies at death's door. The boy fell into a hay loading machine while it was in operation and was nearly torn to pieces. The machine consists of a to pieces. The machine consists of a cylinder, which is covered with sharp hook-like prongs, which revolves near the ground, the hooks catching the hay from the windrows and throwing it upon a moving frame, which deposits it on the wagon. The boy was sitting on a bar of wood which passes across

ONE OF THE ESSENTIALS TO SUCCESS.

One of the essentials for getting along in any line of work where improvement of condition depends upon merit rather than "pull," political or otherwise, is that peculiar, indescribable faculty of doing as many jobs as possible more than "good enough," though one sees no imlabor. A street bootblack working on this principle has become the prosperous proprietor of several "bootblack parlors" yleiding a good income. He no longer handles the brush himself, finding enough to do in overseeing his several places. Others who started when he did are still knecking about the streets picking up odd nickels. People patronize this cheerful italian because they can sit in comfortable chairs and read a newspaper while getting a little better shine than ordinary, made with materials that do not injure the leather. In no line of work does this extra care, or lack of it, count for more or show more plainly than in farming. The man who plows, harrows, plants and cultivates a little better than "good enough," says an exchange, is like-

SELECT THE SEEDS NOW.

If farmers would take the time and seect a certain portion of their grain this eason, with due regard to securing the hoicest that the field has produced, a great deal could be accomplished toward rep improvement. It is probably too late low for some of our readers to put the advice into practise with wheat, but there are thousands yet who, if they have finished outling, have not concluded draw-ing. Those who cannot select the wheat have all the opportunity in the world to do their selecting with the coming out have all the opportunity in the world to do their selecting with the coming out and corn erops.

On the subject of seed selection the following timely advice is offered by Prof. H. M. Cottrell, formerly director of experiment station at Manhattan, Kas.:

"Many careful farmers cut and stack the grain from all their fields together. After thrashing they run the grain through a famning mill and save the largest, heaviest seeds for planting. This gives large, heavy seed, but such seed may not be from the most productive plants. With small grain, if the stand is thin, continual selection from poor seed berpetuates the crop's weakness. In this way if the seed is selected every year from the general mixture of the whole crop, a strain will be gradually bred up that stools lightly and is not a heavy yielder. 'On the farm there is usually a field or a part of a field that yields much more per acre than the rest of the same variety on the farm. The heavy yielding area should be out by itself and the grain needed for seed graded out of this. Such a selection will give large, heavy seed from high yielding plants and if continued for a few years will result in a considerable increase in the yield of every acre of grain with not a cent a additional cost.

"This year all small grain intonded for seed should be kept unthrashed until it has become thoroughly dry and cured. If it can be kept dry in the straw until win-eds for an improved strain. The head om these choice plants may be gathered a sack and thrashed by hand, the seed refully graded with a good fanning mill, ad planted by juself.

"Large, well filled heads should be sected from plants that stool shundantly, eye stake that stand up well and show ast injury from rust Such work, will y well and it will open up a new world the hoys and girls."

A good defit can be accomplished by is method if the farmer but will. Should
